

Contents

Foreword.....	vii
Acknowledgments	viii
About the Authors.....	ix
Jeff Adams
Maximizing Your Practicing Time on Three Quick Improv Lessons	1
Kenneth Amis
Are You Just Another Crescendoing Vibrator?	4
Roger Bobo
Pursuing Goals in a Changing World	7
Lisa Bontrager
How Does a Specialty Baker Become a Master Chef? Tips for Horn Players, as They Adapt in Order to Join the Brass Band Movement	9
Velvet Brown
Choosing a Healthy and Complete Start: Is Your Warm-up Nutritious or a Double Espresso Shot Just to Get You Going?	11
John Clark
How to Improve Your Playing Without Practicing (. . . But I Didn't Say You Should Never Practice!)	13
Dale Clevenger
Some Observations on Respiration	15
Abbie Conant
Cooking in High Altitudes: Whirled Peas, or How to Spread Peace as a Brass Player	17
Jeffrey Curnow
Attention Trumpet Players: Superchops in Just 8 Minutes a Day	19
Kurt Dupuis
Managing a Section of Nineteen	21
Peter Ellefson
Eight-Layer Trom-“Bone-In”-tonation Supreme	23
Laurie Frink
Superior CAFÉ: Control, Accuracy, Flexibility, Endurance	25
Jack Gale
Writing for Brass Quintet	29
Wycliffe Gordon
Singing Approach to Ear Training for Jazz Improvisation	32
James Gourlay
Vibrato for the Tuba?	34

Toby Hanks
Forza de Musica Marinara: A Nutritious Dish that, Carefully Prepared, Simmered, and Consumed Regularly, Will Promote Health and Build Strong 'Bones (Trumpets, Horns, and Tubas, Too)	38
Richard Hansen
Five Hors d'Oeuvres for Common Brass Player Ailments	41
Kevin Hayward
Ready . . . Set . . . Rehearse: A Basic Guide to Thinking Professionally in a Rehearsal Setting	43
Lesley Howie
The Four Ps	45
Gregory Hustis
The Winning Difference: Making an Audition Count	47
Alex Iles
Making Arban's a Supplement to Your Daily Routine	50
Ingrid Jensen
The Brass Player's Guide to the Galaxies: The Art of Arriving Refreshed and Ready to Play Your Best	53
Dave Kirk
Clearing the Air—Do You Really Need to Learn How to Breathe?	55
Craig Knox
Let Go and Share the Music: How to Practice Making Music (Not Just Creating Perfection)	57
Mark H. Lawrence
Interpreting Composers' Markings: Relative or Absolute	60
John Marcellus
Pitch and Rhythm Brew	63
Raymond Mase
Old Music on New Horns	66
Steven Mead
Mouthpiece Whistling and Resistance Mouthpiece Inhalation: Two Unconventional Things to Do with Your Mouthpiece That Enable You to Play with More Open, Freer Sound	68
Brad Michel
Making That Audition Tape—Professional Quality on a Budget	71
Gregory Miller
How to Impress a College Faculty Search Committee	75
Bob Montgomery
Playing in a Big Band Trumpet Section	77
Jennifer Montone
Practicing Away from the Horn: Mental Preparation in Music-Making	80
Daniel Perantoni
The Making of the Professional Musician (A Recipe for Success)	83

Marc Reese
Bad Habits Work: A Recipe for Replacing the Old with the New	86
Ronald Romm
Recipe for Successful Programming	89
Mike Roylance
Buzzin' for Life	92
Jon Sass
Travel Smoothly To-Go: A Recipe for Smooth Touring	95
Ralph Sauer
Dynamics: Absolute or Relative?	99
Susan Slaughter
Articulation, Projection, Respiration: Recipes for Improving Three Essential Skills	101
Phyllis Stork
Brass Player Extraordinaire	104
Deanna Swoboda
Spice Up Your Musicality: Dynamic Flavoring for Low Brass Players	108
David Taylor
"BURN": To Be On Fire; To Yearn to Do or Acquire Something	111
Kenneth Thompkins
Rhythm Changes for Brass	115
Demondrae Thurman
Quiche à la Musicality	116
Richard Todd
Mastering Your Ingredients—Or, How to Eliminate Your Measuring Cup	119
Adam Unsworth
Recipe for Jazz Articulation	121
Warren Vaché
Perceptual Pot Luck and Gigs in a Blanket	123
Tom Varner
Expanding Your Listening Range and Growing as a Player and Teacher	125
William VerMeulen
The Three Sure Fixes to All Brass Playing Problems . . . Also Known As, "The Automotive Approach to Brass Artistry"	127
Charles Vernon
Pearl Necklace Purée	130
John Wallace
Have Something to Say	131
Frøydis Ree Wekre
Developing and Programming Your Inner Coach and Guide	134

David Werden
Euphonium—A Different Brew (What Makes Playing Euphonium Unique?)	137
Jeremy West
Cook Up a Few Noodles (Seventeenth-Century Style): Recipe for Modern Brass Players Playing Early Wind Instruments and Their Repertoire	140
Gail M. Williams
Peak Performance Stew	142
R. Douglas Wright
Getting Off the Page: Three Ingredients for More Musical Playing	143
Douglas Yeo
With the Right Tool, You Can Do Any Job: Why Playing the Right Instrument Matters	146